WALLMANS LAWYERS

Established in 1908, Wallmans Lawyers are a highly regarded full service firm, with expertise in the South Australian market spanning a Century.

Why Wallmans

Our Partners are recognised as leaders in a number of fields of practice, so at Wallmans you will be learning from and working with some of Adelaide's most respected practitioners. We pride ourselves on setting the highest professional standards.

Clients choose Wallmans because they hear good things about us and they stay because we give them no reason to look elsewhere.

Wallmans comprises a full service team of over 85 staff, incorporating 13 Partners and 40 lawyers. As a firm we are large enough to offer diversity and real career opportunities with exposure to a range of practice areas, yet not so large as to be impersonal.

Connecting with our community

Wallmans, as a successful business recognises its obligations to make a positive contribution to the community in which it operates. Firm-wide, we sponsor, donate money and volunteer for a range of charities including Novita Children's Services, the Smith Family, The Royal Flying Doctor Service (Central Division) and The Christmas Party for Special Children.

“ The bodies we support genuinely appreciate not only financial assistance, but the benefits we can provide by making our skills available to them. We actively encourage all of our staff to participate in these efforts, and appreciate the generosity of those who become involved. ”

Chris Wellington, Partner.

“ We know that people are a law firm’s greatest asset and at Wallmans we invest in the best. We have an inclusive culture, reward success and encourage a harmonious balance between work and life. ”

Catherine Schultz, General Manager

What we offer

At Wallmans, our working environment is relaxed, yet stimulating, challenging and professional. We encourage self-development, and provide opportunities for staff to achieve their utmost potential via mentoring, internal and external development and training programs. Offering a genuine team approach is one of our greatest strengths.

With clear guidelines for progression and regular reviews and structured development plans, Wallmans offer you a career, not just a job.

With an active social club undertaking a range of functions, charity events and sporting activities throughout the year, Wallmans support strong working and social relationships between staff.

Our core values are central to everything we do:

- Family, Fun and Celebration
- Excellence and Integrity
- Respect and Cooperation
- Enthusiasm and Creativity

“ Wallmans are very encouraging of any social activities within the firm. There are regular events held by the social club and unlike other firms, everyone gets involved. As you may not have daily contact with staff from other practice areas, these events are a great chance to socialise and catch up with the greater Wallmans team. ”

Eliana Ugolini, Associate

“As a younger lawyer in the firm, I have had the opportunity to not only seek the advice of many mentors, I have had the opportunity to provide advice as a mentor. Thus while enhancing my legal skills, I am developing leadership skills.”

Victoria Shute, Associate

Interested?

Many of our senior lawyers started with us as clerkship participants.

We view the summer clerkship program and PLT placement program as your first opportunity to experience life as a lawyer in a medium sized, fast paced legal practice.

You are provided with the opportunity to gain exposure in a range of practice fields, which you may not have previously considered.

In order to assist you to make a smooth transition from student to professional we offer a structured placement program, to allow you to fully participate in firm life and to gain the upmost experience in the time you spend with us.

A typical Clerkship at Wallmans would include the following:

- Meeting with the General Manager and HR Coordinator to discuss your program.
- Introduction to staff members and responsible Partners.
- Comprehensive training in our systems and procedures to allow you to operate within our environment.
- Attending client meetings and conducting interviews with witnesses.
- Conducting and reporting on factual and legal research.
- Collating and indexing documents for use in trials and mediation.
- Preparing letters of advice, opinions and drafting of Commercial and Court documents.
- Accompanying clients to Barrister's Chambers or to Court.
- Attending Court Registries and Public Offices.
- Participating in practice section meetings and internal training programs.
- Attending firm social events, networking seminars and business development activities.

“It is the attention to detail and the ‘going the extra mile’ for clients which sets Wallmans apart from its competitors. Wallmans truly values and rewards hard work and effort while acknowledging the importance of both work/life balance. A great place to work.”

Brian Paris, Senior Associate
